When is a community too poor to receive a pro-poor water program?

This presentation will critically examine the workings and implementation of a pro-poor water policy and strategy in Kisumu, Kenya. Elijah Bisung discusses tensions and gaps between the worlds of policy and practice in the context of water. The presentation is based on five years of community based participatory research and advocacy work with community leaders.

Elijah Bisung
Kinesiology and Health Studies, Queen's U

Dr. Elijah Bisung is an assistant professor in the School of Kinesiology and Health Studies at Queen's University. His research focuses on social and environmental production of health and wellbeing. His scholarly contributions include environmental collective action, environmental stress and psychosocial health, community based participatory research, and health systems resilience to climate change. His work also focuses on the interfaces of water policy and practice in low income settings.

“An Early Retrospective on Talent and Culture”

Matthew Dusureault MIR ‘13
Senior Manager, Planning & Coordination Strategy & Analytics Department
Toronto Blue Jays

Matthew Dusureault is a talent and culture business leader who currently serves as the Senior Manager, Planning & Coordination in the Strategy & Analytics Department for the Toronto Blue Jays Baseball Club. His current role is focused on organizational strategy across the Toronto Blue Jays, as well as leading the organization’s focus on talent. Before this, Matthew was responsible for both day-to-day and strategic human resources leadership to all employees including executives at the Club. Prior to making the transition into sports, Matthew worked as the head of human resources for a unionized auto parts manufacturing plant located in Hamilton, Ontario where he was the point person for all human resources functions and was also the chief spokesperson for the company in successful grievance resolution and collective bargaining negotiations.

In 2018 Matthew received an Executive MBA from the Ivey Business School at Western University and in 2013 he completed the Master of Industrial Relations (MIR) Program at Queen’s University through the Professional Master of Industrial Relations stream. Matthew also has B.A. from McMaster University and a Human Resources Management Certificate from Sheridan College and is a Certified Human Resources Leader (CHRL).

Matthew gives credit for his career success to not only his educational experiences, but also the mentors who have helped shape his business acumen, leadership skills and perspective on the true value of being solution-oriented.

There’s still time to join our next Queen’s Graduate Diploma in Business class, beginning in May 2018.

On March 22nd, I’ll be hosting a special webinar, dedicated to completing an effective application.

I’ll discuss the application process – outlining how to showcase your academic background, best demonstrate your skills and present yourself to our admission committee.

I’ll also outline the two major scholarship opportunities available to all applicants: entrance scholarships based on the merit of all application components as well as a new, $5000 essay-based scholarship.

I hope you’re able to attend!

“My experience at the Bader International Study Center has been an extremely unique and valuable learning experience that has allowed me to grow academically as well as personally. Having the opportunity to take courses both relative and transferable to my Health Studies undergraduate degree, alongside the small class sizes, numerous experiential learning opportunities, and the strong sense of community has allowed for an incredibly enjoyable semester. Furthermore, the flexible schedule that exists has allowed me to travel to various locations throughout the United Kingdom and Europe – France, Monaco, Switzerland, Germany and Ireland! I am extremely grateful for the opportunity to have attended the BISC and would highly recommend to all upper year students looking to study abroad. “

Advanced Ergonomic Studies
Ontario College Graduate Certificate (38 weeks)

Fanshawe College’s new Advanced Ergonomic Studies Graduate Certificate is the first program of its kind in Canada. Graduates will be eligible to apply for certification as an Associate Ergonomist (AE) through the Canadian College for the Certification of Professional Ergonomists (CCCPE). Ergonomists find employment in diverse public and private sector environments ranging from healthcare to manufacturing.

Program Overview

Advanced Ergonomic Studies is designed to prepare graduates of kinesiology and related programs for employment as certified ergonomists. This full-time graduate program leverages an undergraduate degree with an intensive, discipline-specific program leading to a professional designation.

- Two 15-week semesters at Fanshawe’s Oxford St. campus in London, Ontario
- One 8-week field placement

"Advanced Ergonomic Studies at Fanshawe College gives students interested in pursuing a career in ergonomics the skill set employers are looking for."

Jim Arnold, CCPE, Faculty Member

FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE CONTACT:

Allison Stephens
Program Coordinator
T: 519-452-4430 ext. 5260
E: Astephens@fanshawec.ca

The latest Ergonomic analysis techniques and software are integrated into the program.
Curriculum Highlights

Advanced Ergonomic Studies was specifically designed for graduates of kinesiology and human kinetics programs in consultation with certified ergonomists, academics, and the Canadian College for the Certification of Professional Ergonomists (CCCPE). The curriculum is delivered by practicing ergonomists in both classrooms and a laboratory equipped with the tools and software used in the field.

Graduates will be eligible to apply for professional certification as an Associate Ergonomist (AE) through the Canadian College for the Certification of Professional Ergonomists (CCCPE). Classroom, lab and field placement hours are aligned with CCCPE requirements.

“Fanshawe Advanced Ergonomic Studies graduates were very successful in being awarded their Associate Ergonomist designation from the CCCPE

Dr Jim Potvin
2017 President of CCCPE

Open House: Saturday March 24, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

NOTE: Graduates from other disciplines, including nursing, health sciences or engineering may also be eligible for admission. See Admission Requirements at www.fanshawec.ca.
Queen's for Critical Empowerment.

We are currently hiring for our 2018-2019 executive team and are looking to have students from a broad range of faculties, and demographics join our team!

As a new club on campus, Queen's for Critical Empowerment aims to broaden the scope on discussing gender and minority empowerment by looking at a wide range of professional fields and policies. We aim to address empowerment through the perspective that every woman is unique in her barriers and opportunities to accomplish success within society, and would like to shatter the perception that women are one homogeneous group on a national and international scope!

An outline for the list of positions we will be hiring for can be found at: https://drive.google.com/file/d/1ghz22zOhQn0JHR6eZSc5FE9ltbtzKT3bm/view

And the link to our hiring application for the 2018-2019 year is: https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSeWgClMKcf9PL3bu7aU1zFM7nKV0LBC1P9ZLFe7SAKLtdMbQ/viewform

All applications are due by Sunday, March 25th and any comment, questions or concerns can be directed to qfce@clubs.queensu.ca!
Bike 2 Banff!

Arthur Szydlowski (PHE ’19) and Liv Mickie (Kin ’20) on a multi-province bicycle tour starting in early May, covering approximately 3500 km from London, Ontario, all the way to Banff Alberta. It is their hope to use this trip as a platform to reach out to individuals and help them understand that admitting they are vulnerable can be one of the hardest things to do and that reaching out to someone does not mean you are weak, in fact, it means quite the opposite.

They are also attempting to raise $10,000 for jack.org and the amazing work they do in terms of youth mental health advocacy.

Their information and fundraising page can be found at jack.org/bike2banff.
PARTICIPANTS NEEDED – Compensation Provided!

Who is eligible?
✓ Healthy MALES, 18-35 years of age. No cardiovascular, liver or kidney problems, non-smoker, no medications.
✓ Meet Canada’s Physical Activity Guidelines: 150 minutes/week of moderate-vigorous intensity activity.

What do I have to do?
• 5 visits (1-4 hours/visit) to the School of Kinesiology and Health Studies Human Vascular Control Laboratory.
• 4 trials of forearm handgrip exercise (~10-50 min each).
• Consume assigned drink 2 h pre-trial.

What will be measured?

Want to spend it canoe tripping in one of Canada’s most spectacular wilderness areas with a group of cool like-minded people? If so, you should volunteer with Camp Outlook.

What it is: Outlook is a volunteer-run charity with a mission to take teens from disadvantaged backgrounds on canoe trips in Ontario’s Algonquin Park.

Who Outlook volunteers are: A diverse group of people from all kinds of backgrounds, with a shared love of the outdoors.

What they do: They run 9 to 14-day canoe trips from Outlook’s base in Kingston, Ontario from the middle of June until late August.

What training do you need to volunteer for Outlook: None. Outlook puts all its volunteers through a five-week training course in wilderness first aid, lifesaving, youth counselling, canoeing and backcountry skills.

Who the campers are: Teenagers aged 13 to 17 from Kingston and surrounding areas. They come from economically disadvantaged backgrounds, and most have had trouble at home or in school. They’re often challenging, but there is no group of people more rewarding to work with.

What you get for volunteering for the summer: Lifelong friendships. Amazing memories. Stories you’ll be telling for years. Wilderness and youth counselling qualifications that look great on a CV. A unique volunteering experience that will impress future employers. Free room and board for the summer.

What you do NOT get for volunteering for the summer: Paid.

When: Volunteering with Outlook is a full time commitment from May 20th till August 25th.

What you need to do: You will need to submit an application ASAP to the following e-mail: summer@campoutlook.ca The deadline is March 23. For more information, check out our website at: http://campoutlook.ca/.
